Silence over Fyfield

Has anyone noticed that there are not as many aircraft flying over Fyfield? It seems that many aircraft taking off from Stansted in the south west direction have a new flight path. Until recently, aircraft bound for destinations in the direction of northern France took a route that passed over Fyfield to follow the Detling (near Maidstone) air corridor out over the English Channel to France. That has now been changed and aircraft now fly on a route that takes them in the direction of Clacton, not Fyfield. There are still a few aircraft that pass over us but far fewer than before.

Fyfield Focus wins Magazine Award

The Fyfield Focus has won a merit award at the annual Essex Life Community Magazine Awards competition organised by the RCCE with backing from Essex Life, the Diocese of Chelmsford and Newport News. The winners received their awards at a reception held at The West Street Vineyard in Coggeshall on the 20th July. The RCCE competition is designed exclusively for magazines edited and put together by volunteers and this year attracted more than 40 entries.

*Friends of St. Nicholas' Church receive a National Heritage funded grant.
See inside for details.*

Mobile Signal Soon!

Fyfield looks like it is very close to getting a good mobile phone signal as Telefonica are planning to erect a 15m high communications pole on Lower Houchin Field near the large oak tree. Other sites were considered but the selected site met all requirements. With any luck Fyfield will have passed from a no signal area to a fully serviced area with the fastest broadband in the country plus a 4G ready mobile phone signal.

Support the Shop

Fyfield is in the very fortunate position of having its own Village Shop and Post Office but we should not take this for granted. Like pubs, village shops and post offices are closing down all over the country and it's true, you never know what you've got until you lose it. The only way to keep our shop is to support it by buying goods from there. We really do need to start doing more of this now. If you already support the shop then that's fine but we can all do more. The next time you are in the shop just consider where you would have to go if it was no longer in business.

Best Kept Front Garden Contest

Once again the Best Kept Front Garden contest has been judged and proved to be a close run thing with the winners detailed inside the Focus.

Having the first word....Having the first word

I am delighted that the Fyfield Focus has won a Merit Award in the Essex Life Community Magazine Competition for 2015 – it really has become a very tough competition to compete in. I will be providing more details about the competition, the award and the awards ceremony in the next publication but for now a big thank you to everyone who writes material for the Focus – this is your Award – and without your material there would not be a Fyfield Focus. One thing I would like to share with you is that I met a Margaret Morgan who told me she used to produce the Fyfield Focus with Pat Turnpenny. Margaret is involved with the production of The Lavers & Matching News which won a Highly Commended Award. I found out a week later she is also the wife of a bridge player I sometimes partner!

Some more good news is that the Friends of Saint Nicholas' Church have received a National Heritage Funded grant which will enable them to proceed with more repairs to our lovely Church. The Friends are holding their AGM on Monday 8th August in the Church at 8pm so do go along and learn about what they are up to. The Friends are holding a fund raising Cream Tea at Little Witney Green on 21st August – see the village diary and News from The Friends for more details. The Church Tapestry Project is making good progress and you can still get involved – see Mary and Wendy's update inside.

The Fyfield Parish Council are progressing the Fyfield Champions Initiative which is a way of people volunteering to support improvements and changes in our Parish – read all about the initiative inside.

The Village Hall Open Day was a great showcase of our Village Hall facility and the activities the Clubs provide to us on our doorstep – it really was a great atmosphere. Most Clubs continue through the Summer and the Committee have some events planned for October; an Indoor Boot Sale and a Cake and Collectables event - see the village diary and adverts for details. If you have something for sale and want to advertise it in the Focus we are trialling a For Sale Page for residents of Fyfield which gives you free advertising for the next few publications for items for sale – send brief ads to the Focus.

If you are thinking about taking up Bridge or returning to this fascinating game why not enrol on one of the Hatfield Heath Bridge Club courses starting in September. You can also read their article about bridge in our area as well as reading the news from The New Fyfield Bridge Club which meets on a Thursday evening at the Fyfield Village Hall. This month we have a new advertiser M&Ms professional painting and decorating services which undertakes work in Fyfield and surrounding areas – see Mark's advert.

Wishing you all a very happy and sunny Summer.

Don't forget you can do your banking at the Fyfield Post Office (Deposits – Cheque and Cash and Cash Withdrawals). This is available for all customers of HSBC, Barclays, Lloyds, TSB, Co-op and some Santander customers. With the continuation of the closing of banks on our high streets take advantage of doing your banking locally at our village Post Office and support Nikhil to keep our precious Post Office and Village Store open for business. Fyfield would not be the same without Nikhil and the Village Store.

Fyfield Footpaths and Bridleways

In our rural parish we have 19.5 miles of some of the best public footpaths and bridleways that Essex can offer. They weave their way through open country, along hedgerows and river and through woods and have been tracks for public access for hundreds of years. Days when walking or riding a horse and cart was just about the only way to get to school or work or to travel to village markets to sell your wares.

Those days are past now but the footpaths and bridleways remain and I feel privileged to live in a rural community that takes pride in them and in maintaining some of the culture and traditions of a more gentle time. As you may know Ian Hadley, Chairman, Fyfield Parish Council, has started several initiatives to help improve our Parish and has asked me to be the Footpaths Champion. My role will be to ensure our footpaths and bridleways are monitored and accessible and that way markers are in good order. I will coordinate with landowners, our Parish Council and Essex County Council to help make our footpaths the best they can be.

If you would like to get involved in this initiative or have any comments about our footpaths please do get in touch with me. Also if you have a particular route you would like to share send it to me, with photos if possible, and I will put them on the website for all of us to enjoy.

It must be a real burden for landowners to maintain footpaths that cross their land and crops but for the most part they are to be congratulated. However, maintaining them is of no value unless they are used. So get your boots on and go for a walk!

Flower Bed – Outside the Church

We have tried to maintain the flower bed outside the church but after battling with rabbits and deer for the last 5 years we have conceded defeat and have decided to grass over the area.

Hopefully the daffodils will still come through next spring.

Our Bridge Players Have a Busy Social Life

We are very lucky there is a thriving bridge community in our area. There are many U3A groups and clubs that cater for all standards on each weekday and even on some Sundays. You need never be lonely or stuck for something to do if you can play bridge.

Hatfield Heath Bridge Club has been running classes since 2007 and in that time our membership has increased considerably and so has that of all the other local clubs. We now have our main club running every Wednesday evening with a separate section for newer players. Not everyone finds Wednesday evenings convenient but Fyfield Bridge Club meets on Thursday evenings and there are clubs that meet on Monday, Tuesday and Friday evenings. We mustn't forget the very popular club Herts & Essex Bridge Club which meets every Tuesday afternoon in Hatfield Heath.

Not all bridge is played in organised sessions. Friends made in bridge classes often get together for a social game at home with a cup of tea and some cake or even supper and wine.

Anyone can learn to play bridge. No prior knowledge is necessary. You don't need a partner, a degree in mathematics or a photographic memory though it is helpful if you can count! The most important part is to want to learn something new and being open to the idea of meeting new people and making friends.

The new session of classes at Hatfield Heath Bridge Club starts on 19th September and further information can be obtained from:

Penny and Brian at hassells2@gmail.com or 01279 721428.

FYFIELD

Champions

If you have ever felt the desire to comment on the need for something to happen in Fyfield then how about grasping the bull by the horns and making it happen. The Parish Council are promoting the establishment of Champions who are individuals who are prepared to lead or run or control campaigns that do things that make Fyfield a better place. Elsewhere in the Focus you will read that our first Champion is Les Lamb who is organising a group of residents who will survey and monitor local footpaths and bridle ways. There are plenty of other things that are crying out for a champion such as a first responder group, neighbourhood watch, organising the installation of a defibrillator and keeping the roads and streets where we live looking cared for and litter free. So why not have a think and either start a project or volunteer for being a part of one and helping out. The Parish Council will fully support you and provide you with assistance in any way that they can including awarding a Champion of Champions prize in the summer of 2017.

If you are interested then please contact:

Ongar Research Station - Developing a Weed Killer

When I'm walking our dog around the footpaths and look out over the fields of cereal crops it reminds me of my time working at the Ongar Research Station for May and Baker. My job in Agrochemical Research was to help find and develop new cereal crop weed killers and in 1979 we discovered a selective weed killer that went on to be a market leader.

We tested thousands of chemicals each year to see if they killed weeds but did not harm crops. Very occasionally one would show promising signs but often development was subsequently dropped for various reasons. However, in November 1979 we assessed the previous week's experiments and it was a remarkable result. The broadleaf weeds had turned white but the cereal crops were totally unharmed and within a few days the weeds had died. It was incredibly effective on many broad leaved weeds and killed them at just a few grams per hectare.

Our reference number for the chemical was M&B38544 and its' chemical name was Diflufenican. These terms were to become part of our everyday language and it was the start of years of laboratory tests and field trials all over the country.

Part of my job was to set-up small scale field trials to assess how the chemical was affected by soil type and weather conditions. Also back in the laboratory to measure how quickly it was metabolised and passed through the soil. The trials were UK wide but many were around the Ongar and Fyfield area and involved the co-operation of lots of our local farmers.

As M&B38544 passed the numerous tests we became ever more hopeful that this time we had a product that would make it to market. Finally, in the late 80's it did. Under the brand name "Javelin" it quickly became a market leader and I believe it is still in use today under different names and combinations with other chemicals.

Weeds seem to appear daily in my garden but thanks to discoveries like Diflufenican there is often not a single weed peeking above a huge field of crops.

I went onto work in I.T. at the M&B site in Dagenham but look fondly back to my 18 years at Ongar Research Station. I am proud to have been part of such a small but successful research team and even better to have met my future wife, Kate, who worked there in finance.

In July several of our old May and Baker colleagues are coming to a reunion. Kate and I can't wait to catch up with them and reminisce about old times.

It would be great to hear from local farmers who remember working with me and other colleagues at May and Baker all those years ago.

Friends of St. Nicholas' Church - Update

We thought it was time to give an update on the work behind the scenes of the Friends of St Nicholas.

Thanks to all the contributions and fund raising we are now looking to start restoration on the porch shortly.

The next piece of good news is we have secured a grant allowing us to restore and repair the remainder of the roof and the bell tower and this will finally make our church water tight.

We are continuing to raise more funds and will be:

Serving cream teas at Little Witney Green on 21st August, 2016 - 1pm to 4pm.

Having Christmas Cheer in the church serving Christmas refreshments and a few stalls for some last minute pressies on 10th December.

We are holding the AGM in the church on 8th August at 8pm.

Thank you to everyone who supports us and has made the restorations possible and we hope you will continue to support us in the future.

Fyfield Village Hall

We had a very enjoyable Open Day on Sunday 10th July when all affiliated clubs took part. The Carpet Bowls club were busy teaching people to bowl and hope some new members will come along to Bowls on Tuesday evenings. Other clubs represented were WD50, Clare gave a demonstration of the exercises, and talked to visitors about Pilates, Art Group had a display of paintings and a demonstration, Mini-movers starting in September demonstrated their activities, Fyfield W.I. had a beautiful display of crafts and Janice demonstrated her pressed flower card making. Luncheon Club gave out flyers inviting visitors to come and have a sociable lunch once a month. The Village Hall Committee produced delicious cakes for all to enjoy and were on hand to hear suggestions and ideas.

Our next two events in October are an indoor boot sale on Sunday 2nd and a Cake and Collectables event on Wednesday 5th where Mark Stacey from Stacey's Auctioneers will be available to give you a verbal valuation on collectibles/antiques (our very own Village Antiques Road Show). Please see the adverts and the website www.Fyfieldvillagehall.org.uk for full details of these events.

Winners of the 100 club for July were 86, 21 and 8. If you want to join, you can still do so by paying pro rata by contacting Marie Apperley on 899386.

Thanks go to Marion Alcock for our Gardening Club entry this time:

Garden gnomes, you either love them or hate them but if it is not a gnome, I am sure you have some other objet d'art in your garden whether it be a statue amongst the greenery or a fancy wind chime. Me, I like unusual containers, the rustier the merrier but each to their own. I have been to the Gibberd Garden at Harlow, renowned for its abstract exhibits but, in truth, they left me cold and uninspired but my interest was awakened on a recent Gardening Club visit to Barnards Farm, a private garden on the A128 a mile past the Halfway House, opened under the National Gardens Scheme.

The garden covers 17 hectares and its more parkland carved out of woods aka Capability Brown than Gertrude Jekyll herbaceous borders although there is plenty of colour surrounding the house and café. The main stay of this garden is the 80 sculptures punctuating the landscape. There is plenty to amuse and enjoy like the oversized silver rhino or the outdoor bathing boy but my green-eyed monster came out when I saw this giant verdigris creature. Particularly stunning are the four sentinels soaring aloft and a larger than life angel just about to take off from a lawn. All sculptures are of gallery quality and if only I could afford just one something similar.....

The garden is open on a Thursday until 1st September and during the summer school holidays a miniature steam railway runs for the children. There is a special day on Sunday 4th September when the vintage car museum and a 1920's cycle shop also opens to keep the dads amused. Do not worry if you are not so mobile as there is a golf buggy tour available; a bit bumpy so hold on tight. Well worth the visit: www.barnardsfarm.eu

Mary, Mary, quite contrary, how does your garden grow? Well thanks to a plague of snails not very well. Ok, the roses and flowering shrubs have been stunning and best ever for many a year but the emerging soft green growth of the perennials has attracted an army of slimy giant slugs and snails who have grown fatter at my expense. Initially I was kind and collected the blighters by torchlight for rehousing in the field next door. When numbers reached over 50 a night I resorted to euthanasia by a bucket of salty water and somewhat reluctantly have now added some pellets to the containers. Annuals like sweet peas and runner beans have struggled with the lack of sunshine and what little growth has emerged has been munched to nothing. I feel that I have been visited by some of the plagues of Egypt and wonder what next.

The Gardening Club meets every month in members' homes and provides a varied program. This year as well as the outing mentioned above, we held a talk in the village hall and have organised a plant swap evening. Future events include a garden party, barbeque (at the allotments) and a talk on "The role of art in gardens" plus another garden visit. New members are always welcome.

Allotments: The allotments are situated at Canons Green and there are plots available now. For all enquiries about these or the Club, please ring Pat on 899590.

Fyfield & District W.I.

Fyfield WI members were hugely entertained on 7th July by speaker Tracey Mackness who told us about Turning My Life Around. Tracey is an Essex Girl who came from a family of Romford market fruit and veg traders, very bright, with a bubbly personality and zest for life. Tracey took a lot of very hard knocks in her early life – many self-inflicted – but when at rock bottom, in prison for a 10 year sentence, she turned her life around by taking up training courses available to prisoners and became, first, a fully qualified gym instructor, but later, when transferred to an open prison in Kent, Tracey met the love of her life – British Saddleback Pigs! Enduring struggles and hardships on the way, Tracey became a qualified pig farmer, butcher, and owns the Giggly Pig Company, supplying award winning sausages (60+ varieties!) and pork, in all forms, to Farmers' Markets all around Essex and at country-wide garden show events. Well, Tracey kept us laughing, gasping, and full of admiration for her pluck, determination and ability to laugh at herself - definitely the best WI speaker I have ever heard! Tracey had brought along cooked samples of her sausages for us to try. They were absolutely scrummy and we queued up to buy sausages and bacon packs to take home. In 2013 Tracey published her story – Jail Bird - The Life and Crimes of an Essex Bad Girl, and I intend to read it as soon as possible. I know it's going to be a terrific read! What a good afternoon and what a terrific woman!

There is no WI meeting in August, which is fortunate as Tracey would be a hard act to follow – but on 1st September we have something completely different with a Taste of Capel Manor from Mrs Anne Luder, and on 6th October Mrs Brenda Harley will speak on How I became an old Sew and Sew. Visitors are always welcome at Fyfield WI – just phone Jo Balcombe on 01277899141 to say you are coming – and come along to Fyfield Village Hall by 2.0pm.

We are holding a Coffee Morning on Thursday 22nd September in the Village Hall from 10.30a.m. till 12.30p.m. There will be lots of stalls and a raffle. So please do come along and join us.

St Nicholas' Church – A St. Nicholas Tapestry

The proposed needlework depicting the story of St. Nicholas has been met with great enthusiasm and a group of ladies have been exploring possibilities.

Margaret Cox is busy drawing illustrations of St. Nicholas ready for us to use to transfer on to material.

A group of us went to the material shop in Tiptree and found various suitable materials we could use. A rough outline of this endeavour is being priced and looked at from all angles. At the moment the best material for the backing will cost in the region of £100.00.

To assist everybody who wants to be part of the working party we are holding an Applique Workshop in the Church on Saturday 27th August from 11.00a.m. to 4.30p.m. For more information on the cost of the class please phone Wendy 899367. If you can't attend the workshop but would still like to take part in this project you will be welcome to join us.

It will make a lovely addition to the fabric of the church for the 21st Century in the same way that the hanging celebrated the end of the 20th Century.

Missing Sign

Why would anyone want to remove a public footpath sign? I know that this happened in the last war so to confuse any invaders, especially if they wanted to get from the Grange to the Black Bull, but nowadays with Sat Nav they would have no problem.

So whoever took the sign at the entrance to the Grange can they please return it so the rest of us know how to get to the Black Bull.

Good to be British

On the 24th June Chris Froome won the Tour de France for the third time, Lewis Hamilton won the Hungarian Grand Prix and Johanna Konta beat Venus Williams to win the Bank of the West Classic tennis tournament in Stanford USA. Excluding football, we seem to be getting used to success in many areas of sport. When I started my cycling life we all accepted that the continentals were better than us. Even though they have the same number of arms, legs etc., they seemed to have a divine right to win. Then in 1958 a Yorkshire cyclist called Brian Robison became the first British person to win a stage in the Tour de France. From then on we have had various successes on the continental cycling scene but no domination until Sky entered the scene in 2010 when the team principle, Dave Brailsford, declared that his aim would be to have a British Tour de France winner within 5 years. In fact Sky and Britain have had 4 winners since 2012. What has been proved is that we are as good as anybody especially if we commit ourselves and, as the now Sir Dave Brailsford proved, if you make marginal gains on every aspect of your performance you will improve. This proved true in the London Olympics where the Team GB cycling team won more cycling medals than most countries won any medals. After the recent referendum, I heard a young lady on the radio say that she was not proud to be British. No comment.

The New Utility

Communication technology is now just as important to us all as the other utilities but not everybody accepts this. A long time ago in a place not too far away some people objected to electricity and the ugly overhead power lines. 'I don't need electric light' they would say

'what's wrong with gas mantles'? They were not aware of future developments such as radio, MRI scanners, computers and food mixers that need electricity to function. It's the same with the broadband infrastructure. It's not just for watching TV and playing games. For example, in the not too far ahead future, a blood test could just involve a sample of your blood being analysed by a small device connected to the internet and passed on to a laboratory for further analysis. The consultation with a medic could be done over Skype. We already have 'smart' electric meters and remote control of our central heating and it will not stop there. So let's not fight it, be a part of it and embrace it. Ever thought of reading the Focus on line?

Silence over Fyfield

So, its say goodbye to Ryanair and EasyJet, Farewell to Boeings and Airbus-es, 'Missing you already' you majestic 747's slowly powering your way above Fyfield to the blue sky that is always there even if we can't see it.

No more wondering if the Mediterranean bound holiday makers are on their first glass of something aboard their Thomson Airways Dreamliner. No more wishing that you were in their place. Just keep on mowing the lawn in relative silence.

What's that noise? It seems that the Isle of Man TT races are now passing through Fyfield at high speed!

Archie's Column

(Tails from the Riverside)

Hi Archie here!

Now us Jack Russells are well known for being happy dogs who are always tail wagging and willing to have fun. But we can also be grumpy just like humans especially when we are tired and are woken up. This is particularly annoying when we are woken and told to go to our bed. The problems is that I have beds positioned all over the house so I can have a knap whenever and wherever I like. In the winter I like my bed in the utility room where the underfloor heating keeps me very snug. It also has a curtain so that the light does not wake me up before 9 am. A dog needs his sleep! I was on holiday in Yorkshire a few weeks ago and had a lot of good long walks but mostly on a lead. It seems that they have thousands of those woolly creatures called sheep roaming around. I am told that they are dangerous and do not like dogs at all. The local farmers are a bit mean too as they shoot dogs if they think that a dog is worrying their sheep. What if the sheep are worrying me, will the farmer shoot the sheep? Funny, but I am still looking for this Brexit stuff in the shops and am now desperate to try some. Everybody seems to be talking about it so where is it. Some dog told me that we might have to wait for two years because the truck carrying the Brexit is stuck at some French port because there are no illegal immigrants left to man the customs post before they get on the ferry to Dover. I've heard that France is not much further than Willingale so I might even swim over and buy a packet and then swim back. Shouldn't take too long should it!

Anyway, I'm off to buy a snorkel and mask plus four flippers and maybe an outboard motor.

Bye for now,

Archie.

Letter from the Chairman

Apart from a few minor irritations my first few months have passed quickly as it does when you are busy. I have to say that not all of my effort has gone into what I consider to be the work of the Parish Council but has been diverted to dealing with the irritants.

First, I would like to introduce Derek Farr to you as our new Clerk to the Council and Responsible Financial Officer. Derek is an experienced Parish Clerk who will guide and advise the councillors on our duties and responsibilities. When you all voted in May I suspect you voted for a council that is proactive on behalf of the residents. I can assure you that my view of a councillor is a person who volunteers to take ownership of issues and is not content to be a non-participating member.

You will read elsewhere in the Focus that the Council are promoting Champions for the village and are planning to award a Champion of Champions prize to the most deserving person or group. On the 18th July we held our annual Parish Assembly, somewhat late this year but something we have to hold even though there were only six residents attending. Next year we will be holding this meeting on time thanks to Cllr. Barbara Sayward who is undertaking the task of ensuring compliance with local government requirements along with our new Clerk, Derek Farr.

Barbara and Derek will ensure that the council are undertaking everything that we are legally obliged to do and also advise on things that we should not be doing. Not only do we have to do the right things, we have to do things right. Have a good summer everyone, the next council meeting is on Monday 12th September.

This month we feature two more Summer recipes which are both light and refreshing and perfect for Summer, although both recipes can be enjoyed at other times of the year too. Last month we featured a Fig, Lardon & Dolcelatte Tart and a starter of Aubergine, Tomatoes, Basil & Mozzarella (Melanzane alla parmigiana). The tart recipe contained an error in the list of ingredients for the tart filling – 2 fl oz mild should have read 2fl oz milk! Thank you to Mary Simons for bringing this to our attention. Next month's recipes will feature some lovely recipes for Autumn – a main course and a starter – and I can't wait to share them with you.

Peaches Baked in Marsala with Mascarpone Cream

Peaches:

6 firm ripe peaches
1½ oz caster sugar
10 fl oz sweet marsala wine
1 inch cinnamon stick
1 vanilla pod
1 rounded tsp arrowroot

Mascarpone Cream:

4 rounded tbs mascarpone
4 rounded tbs fromage fraise – 8% fat
A few drops of vanilla extract
1 tsp caster sugar

Serves 6

Preheat the oven to gas mark 4. Begin by halving the peaches and removing stones, then place the halves in a bowl, pour boiling water over them and, after 30 seconds, drain AND SLIP OFF SKINS. Now place peach halves in a shallow baking dish, mix the sugar & Marsala in a jug and pour over. Add the cinnamon stick and vanilla pod to the dish, then place on the centre shelf of the oven and bake (do not cover the dish) for 35/40 mins.

Remove from the oven and drain juices into a small saucepan. Mix the arrowroot with a little cold water then add it to the saucepan and whisk over a gentle heat until slightly thickened; this will happen as soon as it reaches simmering point. Then pour the juice back over the peaches and leave to cool. To make the mascarpone cream beat all the ingredients together and pile high into a pretty serving dish to hand round separately.

Cheryl Hadley

(This is a lovely Summer fruit dessert which my friend Lynne Evans gave me many years ago and you feel you are eating a naughty dessert when you aren't. If you are doing a dinner party and want to offer a choice of two desserts this is a good alternative to go with a more calorie laden dessert. You must use good quality ripe peaches (or nectarines) – not the ones which taste like cotton wool!)

Grilled (or fried) Chicken with Chilli, Lemon & Mint

400g chicken off the bone (breast, thigh meat, whatever)
1 med sized hot red chilli (or 2 bird's eye red chillies), seeded & chopped
1 heaped tsp crushed dried chillies
2 cloves of garlic, peeled & chopped
2 pinches of saffron stamens
A handful of mint leaves (20 or so)
4tbl spns olive oil
Juice of large or 2 small lemons
Hunks of lemon, to serve

Serves 2

Cut the chicken into thin strips roughly the size of a finger and put them in a basin. Whizz the fresh and dried chillies, the garlic, saffron, most of the mint, olive oil and most of the lemon juice in a blender or food processor till you have a thick, speckled, bright red, orange and green slush. Pour it over the chicken and toss gently. Set aside for half an hour for the chicken to take up some of the flavours of the marinade. Heat a ridged grill pan and lightly oil it. When it is hot, add the strips of chicken, and any marinade clinging to them, and fry for three or four mins on each side, till they are golden brown in patches but cooked through. They will be firm to the touch and sticky. Watch that the chilli does not burn; it if shows any sign of singeing, then turn down the heat. Season with a little salt and the remaining lemon juice and mint. Serve with hunks of lemon.

Cheryl Hadley

(This is another recipe from my friend Lynne Evans who introduced me to this Cook/Chef and like all the recipes Lynne recommends they are full of flavour. This dish is good for everyday eating or for a casual supper dish with friends and I serve with simple vegetables or salad & salad potatoes. You will need to experiment with the amount of chillies depending on the level of heat you like. I always marinade for longer than 30 mins and always use thigh meat. I quite often do four times the recipe and after marinating overnight freeze in portions of two.)

Light Hearted Monologues from a Local

An Abridged Tale of High Jinx and Suspense

One cloudless morning as traffic crossed over San Francisco Bay the following were inexorably linked:

The Golden Gate Bridge, Dodge trucks, Charly "yo yo" Jackson and Sam Hill.

On 27th May, 1937 the suspension bridge was completed and opened spanning the Golden Gate strait. This is the one mile wide (1.6 km), three mile long (4.8 km) channel between San Francisco Bay and the Pacific Ocean. The bridge was originally painted with red lead primer and a lead-based topcoat. Since 1990 acrylic topcoats have been used instead and it is now maintained by 38 painters who touch up the paintwork where it becomes seriously corroded.

On one such maintenance day Charly Jackson, a contract painter, was addressing corrosion, 746 feet high, at the top of one of the two towers that support the suspension cables. Being at the highest point of this internationally recognizable symbol of San Francisco and the U.S.A. was breath-taking and Charly was determined to do the structure justice. His first move, momentarily forgetting where he was and stepping back on the suspended cradle to ensure brush marks were not too visible, was to slip, with paintbrush in hand, suddenly from the highest truss. Spectacularly his "Holds Em Up" brand of trouser braces snagged onto a rivet as he descended at some speed from above the bridge. At the lowest stretch of the elastic Mr Jackson started his ascent and encountered the top of the bridge with his head. Quickly scrabbling at anything he could grab a scaffold board came into his grip as he began to rush downwards again. As the law of gravity dictates his descent increased with the added weight. Reaching the extent that the stretched elastic would allow the upward movement began only to be stopped by Charly's head again. Alarmingly the buttons holding one side of his braces flew off of his trousers as he, unable to stop, began to approach Mother Earth again. One of the buttons whistled very closely past a fellow painter's ear, that of Sam Hill. He instinctively ducked fearing it was a gunshot and dislodged a can of paint from his position. It fell from quite a height hitting a lower support discharging paint over a passing transporter delivering new Dodge trucks. Was this the first Panic Button?

Charly "yo yo" Jackson dangled to a halt and was helped down to the safety net. What was a big hit with him were all the different coloured stars that he counted swirling round him although it was daytime. Recovering completely he noticed that his hat size had changed to two more sizes bigger than usual although he could now balance a tray with ease on his head. Bridge girder head butting was, thankfully, a short lived sport but he may unwittingly hold the first World record for Braces Jumping.

When the Dodge trucks were delivered one of them had a very "random art" paint job on the cab and rear load shelf. This was easily sold as the latest custom truck and the dealer set off a huge mystery at the factory when he requested several more of this "Splash" design model.

WAMDRAMS performance of 'DUETS' – by Peter Quilter

Friday, 10th June, Willingale Village Hall

Under the skilful direction of John Jewiss and Allyson McKenna, the six strong cast gave their audience an enjoyable evening with their performance of 'Duets' – a trio of three short plays that deal with the dilemmas, joys, frustrations and romanticism (or lack of it) involved in male/female relationships, as portrayed in three very different couples.

Peter Quilter is a West End and Broadway playwright whose plays have been translated into over 20 languages and performed in more than 40 countries. I had never seen any of his work before, but discovered that he is an Essex man – born in Colchester. In 'Duets' he explores the strengths, frailties and eccentricities of his characters through the comedy, misunderstandings, memories, hopes and doubts that their different situations produce.

In 'Blind Date' middle-aged Jonathan and Wendy (played by Jim Noon and Jo Easter) meet at Jonathan's apartment via a magazine lonely-hearts column. Both have clearly had bad romantic experiences in the past, but are hoping to overcome their nerves, giving us some great comedy moments. Jonathan is uneasy, less than truthful about his age, romantic but rather shy, whereas Wendy's nerves make her a little over eager to please. She voices her dilemma over what to bring when turning up for a pre-dinner drink before going out to dinner on a blind date, 'What can a woman bring as a gift? It's easy for Men –they can take flowers..' so she explains to a bemused Jonathan that she has brought him some cheese! However, we get the feeling that she may win out in the end. Excellent performances from both Jim Noon and Jo Easter.

The characters in 'Holiday' are a married, middle-aged couple, Bobby and Shelley, who have decided to go to Spain for one last fling before getting divorced! ('Holiday was paid for so we might as well have it' says practical Bobby, glumly.) Will the holiday and shared memories change their minds, we wonder? Shelley, determined to party into the small hours, is rapidly drowning in a sea of cocktails, much to Bobby's dismay as he attempts to restrain her drinking! Barry and Margaret Freeman were convincing in their roles and gave us plenty of laughs as well as moments of nostalgia and regret. Finally, in 'The Bride To Be' we meet Angela and her brother Toby, played with great skill by Gemma Crouchman and Steve McFaul. Angela is in a neighbour's flat, in her bridal dress, about to get married for the third time, with brother, Toby, on hand to escort her to the Church. Angela is superstitious, nervous, and seeks endless reassurance from Toby about her dress – a cross between a voluminous white meringue and an unwieldy parachute - and whether she should go ahead with her third marriage. She begs Toby to get her coffee, for her nerves, then spills it down her dress! Toby's patience is almost exhausted before she eventually agrees to go out to the waiting car, but his relief is short-lived! We hear thunder and lightning and Angela enters, dripping hair and running mascara!

Toby reassures and coaxes Angela and we have glimpses of the strong brother/sister bond between them before Angela recovers her confidence sufficiently to go up the aisle again!

All three plays were well executed and very enjoyable. Congratulations to the Directors and the Cast, and to all those backstage workers who designed and created the set, found the props, managed the wardrobe, lighting and sound effects. A great team effort! Finally, I enjoyed the layout of the hall that was informal and relaxed and appreciated having a drink in the extended Bar! Here's to the next one, WAMDRAMS!

Fyfield Carpet Bowls

I really don't have much to report for this issue, as the Club has not done anything over the past two months, other than to enjoy our Club nights. We did, however, attend the Open Day at the Village Hall on Sunday 10th July. We laid down a carpet and let visitors 'have a go' at carpet bowls. Quite a few tried their hand and most really enjoyed it, even though they realised it wasn't quite as easy as they had thought! However, only one extra person actually attended our Club night on the following Tuesday, and this was someone who had previously been a member and who decided to return. A little disappointing that more did not give it a try, but we welcome Howard back to the fold!

I have not had any update on the afternoon session of the Bowls Club, but the outlook does not look good. I may have more news in my next report.

The County's first competition takes place on Sunday 25th September, with the Eastern Counties Team Bowl at Littleport, so I have nothing to report on that front until later in the year.

I hope everyone has a great summer and I'll catch you later.

The New Fyfield Bridge Club

Our Summer Social took place on Thursday, 14th July – a beautiful sunny evening (hopefully not the last of our unsettled summer) giving members an informal evening to enjoy both a drink or two of something nice, a few tasty nibbles, and the chance to socialise as well as play some Bridge. Excellent idea all round! Food and drink were contributed by members and the Committee under the general direction of Janet Brindley, Club Secretary. The results do not count towards the Endeavour Cup which is played for over the summer months, but on the first Thursday each month. Like most Bridge Clubs, we do have annual cups as well as the normal weekly results. These are the Endeavour Cup (played for over six summer months) and the Hadley Cup (played for during the six winter months). Interest in the competition for the Endeavour Cup is growing as we are more than half-way through. October is the month when the two top players will be awarded the Endeavour Cup and they will hold it for a year.

Meanwhile the Club continues to attract a good attendance and Duplicate Bridge is flourishing in Fyfield! It is a very pleasant way of spending an evening and it's very good exercise for the brain cells! Having time to socialize a little more – rather than just before starting play or at tea-break time – is a bonus and gives members who come from around the area a chance to get to know each other better and, perhaps, even discuss a few Bridge pointers!

Duplicate Bridge is played at Fyfield Village Hall every Thursday evening, starting at 7.15pm promptly. New members are welcome. Parking is easy and you will be sure of a warm, friendly reception if you decide to come along. More information from Janet Brindley, Club Secretary, at fyfieldbridge@icloud.com

I'm off now to practice my card shuffling skills ... oops!

The Beaver Colony - 5¾ to 8 years

The Beavers have been recycling for a few weeks and then brought lots of this in and then made a Robot, a Rocket and a boat. They explained how they thought their model would work.

The following week they designed a picture to create a stepping stone to give to their father or grandfather or Uncle for Father's Day. The next week they made a plaster cast stepping stone and then put their design on to the stone. The next week was spent with a story about a wizard that had dementia and forgot it was his birthday. The Beavers thought of different ways that he could be reminded. They also played some memory games. The Beavers went on a teddy bear picnic hike to the Discovery Wood they all really enjoyed themselves despite the rain they even managed to have a picnic as well. Following the hike the next week they went back to the Discovery Wood and spent time finding out the names of trees and plants in the wood.

The last week of term there was a party and silly games involving lots of balloons and we also invested Kai Millington-Baltzer and Harry Stockdale. Susi also gave out World Challenge Award and Hikes badge to the colony.

The Cub Pack 7½ to 10½

The Cubs had a challenge to build the tallest tower out of junk and sit an egg on the top without breaking it. They all really enjoyed making these models and none of the eggs got broken. The next week all the cubs had the flower tubs to fill with bedding plants lots of mud and dirty hands but good fun and a tug of war on the field. Len Skinner our GSL came in the following week and he helped all the cubs make a branded key ring for their dads or grandfather or uncle for Father's Day. Unfortunately the rain was so torrential on the next week we had to abandon fire lighting and cook inside on portable gas stoves. They cooked flat dabs in a frying pan which they cut open and put jam inside and then toasted marshmallows and had these between to chocolate digestive biscuits (Smores). They went to the Discovery Wood and carried out an environmental survey on their senses, which they all enjoyed. On July 7th the cubs all went in their sixes on an orienteering hike around the local area. On the last night of term they had a BBQ and played sports games on the playing field. On this night we also invested Christopher Mustill-Beard and Jake Deller-Hendy went over the rope to Scouts. David then handed out badges for nights away and navigator and musician and Teamwork Challenge Award.

Scout Troop - 10 to 14

On May the 20th the scouts prepared for the Waltham Walk the following day. This started at Good Easter made their way via several checkpoints and carried out lots of tests and got to Skreens Park campsite at Roxwell for the night. Then they continued the next day to Blackmore Village Hall going through various checkpoints and incidents. We had two mini trek teams (12 to 14 year olds) and two Teenie Trek teams (under 12 year olds) and 1 super vet team (leaders). The Teenie Trekkers were awarded a trophy and one of the mini trek teams won the highest placed Scout team and our other mini trek team was awarded the final finishing team place. A lot of teams did not finish so great to see all of ours finished the course. The next week we had a BBQ and the Grand Egg Throwing Competition which was won by Saffron Long and David McCarthy. The last weekend Scouts went to the Essex County Scouts Archery day. Everyone had a really good day and one of our parent helpers Lyndsey Bushell won the closest shot to the Gold and received a gold medal. Fire lighting was carried out by the younger Scouts and the older scouts were taught how to butcher a leg of lamb and how to cook kebabs on the fires made by the younger Scouts. Father's day was a beer glass painting evening. We had some very nice designs. On the following night (Sunday) the Scouts went microlighting. Unfortunately only 5 of the 11 managed to get a flight as the weather turned windy and it was too hazardous to attempt anymore flights that day. We hope to reschedule during the summer holidays.

On the 24th June we played Scoutopoly which consisted of a lot of different challenges that each patrol had to complete. The following week we had further Pulling (rowing) training and pitching tents for summer camp. On the Sunday 11 scouts went back to the Docklands Scout Project to practice more on the water ready for summer camp. On the 8th July the whole troop went to Thriftwood Scout Campsite in Brentwood and we had booked the Cresta Run and the 3D Maze. Both of these activities were really good fun apart from the gnat bites everyone suffered. The last week of term the troop went for a ghost walk through to Greenstead Church and everyone enjoyed the walk and the hot chocolate at the end of it. Now it is preparation time for their summer Camp to the Dartmouth Regatta at the end of August.

At the beginning of June the Scouts had shooting practice on a Monday night to practice for

The National Scout Rifle Championships at Bisley in October. They had a competition to see who would win a place in the team.

Explorer Unit - 13½ - 18

The Explorer unit started back at the end of June after the long exam period. They celebrated with a Chicken and Chip supper and games night. The next 2 weeks were spent in shooting practice for the National Scout Rifle Championships at Bisley in October. They then had a competition to see who would be in the team. On Friday the 15th July 18 members of the Explorer Unit and their leaders plus 4 of the older Scouts went on a trip to the Olympic White Water Raft Centre in Lee Valley Park. They had a wonderful evening and a good relaxation after a hard term for most of them.

Scout Group News

56 members of the Beavers, Cubs, Scouts and Explorer Scout plus their leaders are visiting Rope Runners at the Kelvedon Hatch Secret Nuclear Bunker on Monday 18th July. The weather forecast is great so I hope they all have a wonderful time.

In July both the Scouts and Explorer Scouts have also attended bag packing sessions at Tesco in Epping. This is a way for the young people to raise their own funds towards camps and activities. We start section meetings on Tuesday 6th September for Beavers and Explorer Scouts and 8th September for Cubs and 9th September for the Scout Troop.
